The National Golf Foundation's

Electronic Library of the Golf Industry

Search: FIND ({smoke 1}/{smoke 2}/{smoke 3})

1. Title: Cool To Covert: Sneaking A Smoke On The PGA Tour

   Author(s): Rude, Jeff

   Abstract: About 35 years ago, a famous picture was taken of Palmer and Hogan smoking on a tee at the Masters. Such images are not found on the greens, and rarely on the tees, of today's Tour. Golf allows its pros to smoke during competition, but one must look closely to spot the smoke. Smokers on the current Tour number about two dozen. Pros who smoke are named. Of those interviewed, most said they smoke less on the course than off. Smoking is more common on tours abroad. Some of those who quit are named.

   Subjects: Smoking; Professional Golfers Association Tour-PGA Tour; Tour professionals; Player behavior

   Source: Golfweek : America's Golf Newspaper, pp. 1-ff.; (11-May-1996)

   Available from the NGF Library: YES NGF Library Number: 20769-VF

2. Title: Cigar Dinner Warms Up Winter F And B Numbers

   Abstract: The Edina, Minnesota Country Club attracted 68 memberes, including several women, and brought in $3,128 for its first-ever cigar dinner. This was 126% higher than anticipated. The club will try to match the cigar dinner success by repeating it twice each year. Edina has also had a "cardiologist's nightmare dinner," a glitzy bash with a casino, and a quiet dinner with a small combo for music and a half dozen menu choices.

   Subjects: Club management and operations; Food and beverages; Private facilities

   Source: Crittenden Golf Inc., p. F13/45; (May-1996)

   Available from the NGF Library: YES NGF Library Number: 20389-VF

3. Title: Smoke Signals

   Author(s): Sanger, John

   Abstract: The author cites the popularity of "smokers", such as a cigar dinner, at clubs and offers suggestions to make them successful. Examples are provided from events held at various clubs - The University Club of 2071529765

Copyright 1996 by the National Golf Foundation, 1150 South US Highway One, Suite 401, Jupiter, FL 33477

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/xxdm0004

Orlando, the Dusquene Club, the University of Washington, D.C. Club, and the Oaks Country Club in Tulsa. Suggestions relate to: ventilation, seating, scheduling of activities, wait staff, clothing [formal or informal], food services, serving the cigars, activities, and speakers. A section on CyberSmokin' lists World Wide Web sites dealing with cigars.

Subjects: Club management and operations; Internet; Food and beverage services

Source: Club Management, pp. 42-ff; (May-1996 Jun-1996)

NGF Library Number: 20867-VF

4. Title: No Ifs, Ands, Butts At Convention Centers : At Many Venues, Smokers Are On The Outside Looking In

Author(s): Schlesinger, Henry

Abstract: Perhaps no everyday issue has so divided Americans as that of smoking. The drive toward smoke-free facilities has accelerated with the EPA's classification of secondhand smoke as a Class A carcinogen. How convention organizers and building managers adapt to the stricter laws is reported. The Moscone Center in S.F. is one of a growing number of venues relying on local laws to reinforce facilty policy. At the San Diego Convention Center no smoking is allowed at all.

Subjects: Smoking; Conventions and meetings; Facilities; Environmental Protection Agency-EPA

Source: Facilities : The Bible for Convention, Exposition, and Event Management, pp. 10-12; (Feb-1996)

Available from the NGF Library: YES NGF Library Number: 19243-VF

5. Title: Golf Pro Isn't Blowing Smoke With Venture

Author(s): Lee, Amy Starensier

Abstract: Dave Stonier, a PGA pro and cigar-smoking entrepreneur is owner of a golf school and shop on Marco Island, FL. He sells cigars at his pro shop and has created an approximately $18,000 annual windfall. He averages a 40 percent markup on a sale. Soon, 10 percent of his shop will be devoted to cigars.

Subjects: Club professionals; Smoking; Golf shop operations

Source: Golf Shop Operations; (Aug-1995)

NGF Library Number: 15582-VF

6. Title: Exploding Cigars : America's Stogie-Fever May Be A Great Way To Heat Up Your Bottom Line

2071529766

Copyright 1996 by the National Golf Foundation, 1150 South US Highway One, Suite 401, Jupiter, FL 33477

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/xxdm0004

Author(s): Gowran, Teri F.

Abstract: Devotees agree that cigars are the supreme luxury. A well- orchestrated smoker promotes interest in the cigar mystique, and will help you get a better feel for interest level. The primary function of a humidor is to maintain the correct balance of moisture. How to store cigars is discussed. Programs for buying and storing cigars are discussed. Staff training and inventory are discussed. With a contract maintained humidor, the size of your inventory is preset and monitored. A small line of accessories may be added.

Subjects: Smoking; Marketing; Profitability; Club management and operations

Source: Club Management : The Resource for Successful Club Operations, pp. 84-ff.; (May-1995 Jun-1995)

NGF Library Number: 14940-VF

7. Title: Cigar Smoke Draws Members

Author(s): Finian, Tom

Abstract: This article is about money-raising events at clubs organized around cigar smoking. Cigar Aficiondado magazine held such an event at the Four Seasons in Chicago, and charged $125 to attend. University Club has put on dinners at $95 a person with such famous guests as Clarence Thomas, Antonin Scalia, and Dan Quayle. The Missouri Athletic Club is now planning its third cigar dinner.

Subjects: Smoking; Fundraising; Magazines

Source: Club Management : The Resource for Successful Club Operations, pp. 62-ff.; (Sep-1994 Oct-1994)

NGF Library Number: 6267-VF

8. Title: Clearing The Air

Author(s): Kaplan, Laura M.

Abstract: Club managers are in the forefront of attention to air quality. Ever attentive to the needs, health and safety of their members, managers are taking a closer look at potential air-related problems in their clubs.

Subjects: Environmental issues; Health hazards; Club management and operations; Clubhouses; Environmental Protection Agency - EPA; Sick Building Syndrome; Second-hand smoke; Pollutants

Source: Club Management : The Resource for Successful Club Operations, pp. 56-ff.; (May-1994 Jun-1994)

NGF Library Number: 3023-VF

2071529767

Copyright 1996 by the National Golf Foundation, 1150 South US Highway One, Suite 401, Jupiter, FL 33477

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/xxdm0004

9. Title: Golf Resorts Drawing Big Green : Fiscal Heavy Hitters See Aging Population Flocking To The Links

Author(s): Sleed, Joel

Abstract: The tobacco industry is placing big bucks into golf resorts. Some changes such as coverting private courses to public have taken place. Information is available by phone to number listed in article.

Subjects: Destination resorts; Golf travel; Public facilities; Private to public conversion

Source: Times, pp. 1-ff; (27-Mar-1994)

NGF Library Number: 1794-VF

10. Title: Smoking Out Of Bounds, Pine Valley Club Declares

Author(s): Stilwell, Eileen

Abstract: Pine Valley Golf Club no longer permits smoking on the course because the cigarette butts are environmentally harmful. Filters are not biodegradable necessitating manual removal and cigarettes can burn the grass and possibly start brush fires.

Subjects: Facilities; Course management and operations; Environmental issues; Air issues; Policies and procedures

Source: Camden Courier-Post; (17-Aug-1993)

NGF Library Number: 1442-VF

11. Title: Smoking Out A Club Policy

Author(s): Kaplan, Laura

Abstract: Clubs and restaurants alike have begun to address the issue of public smoking. Some clubs are satisfied with the status quo. General managers at some clubs discuss the problem. Seating, dining room configurations, and the poper maintenance of heating, ventilation, and air conditioning systems are some other solutions offered. The Pinehurst CC in Denver has become totally smoke-free. Los Altos G & CC in Los Altos, CA is also smoke-free.

Subjects: Smoking; Health and fitness

Source: Club Management : The Resource for Successful Club Operations, pp. 34-ff.; (Jul-1993 Aug-1993)

NGF Library Number: 8437-VF

2071529768

12. Title: Caddy Group Seeks Sponsors, Won't Take Controversial Ads

Copyright 1996 by the National Golf Foundation, 1150 South US Highway One, Suite 401, Jupiter, FL 33477

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/xxdm0004

Author(s): Achenbach, James

Abstract: The Professional Tour Caddy Association (PTCA) is looking for new corporate sponsors, but will not accept cigarette or liquor advertising. Joe Grillo, co-founder of the group, is interviewed. He says, "We're trying to get enough money to buy health insurance for the caddies." He has a motor home that is a travelling lunchroom for the caddies.

Subjects: Caddies; Sponsorship

Source: Golfweek : America's Golf Newspaper, p. 5; (6-Mar-1993)

Available from the NGF Library: YES NGF Library Number: 8245-VF

13. Title: Chinese Golf Expansion : New Course In Beijing

Abstract: Golf in China took "a great leap forward" with the opening of Beijing GC. Ziyang Zhao, Prime Minister and Secretary General of the Chinese Communist Party, made the first official drive, using a smoke ball. Weekend play must by reserved two months in advance and visitors must be introduced by a club member. Green fees are nominal.

Subjects: China; New courses; Green fees

Source: Japan Golf Report, p. 12; (Nov-1987)

Available from the NGF Library: YES NGF Library Number: 15481-VF

2071529769

Copyright 1996 by the National Golf Foundation, 1150 South US Highway One, Suite 401, Jupiter, FL 33477

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/xxdm0004